Money.

Money grew out of man's need. It was a common medium of exchange. It was in great part the result of the division of labor.

In course of time the experience of the larger portion of the human race led men to abandon all other commodities and agree upon gold and silver as two whose qualities rendered them most suitable for this common medium. Further experience taught man that it was desirable to cut these metals into pieces of a certain weight and to stamp upon them its weight. Hence the mark, the pound, the livre. These pieces took the generic name of coins from the wedge-shape of the instrument (causae-jorgine) used in stamping them.

The importance of having these weights accurate and certified so to by proper authority was such that the duty was generally confided to the sovereign, and thus we have the Spanish real, meaning royal as well as exact.

This right of coinage was claimed for centuries as a prerogative of the crown, but in later times, since that most notable doctrine of the right of a people to govern itself and direct its political acts according to the national conscience, enunciated by St. Augustine and proclaimed by the State General of Holland, has become a part of the political law of nations, this duty of coining has been vested in the State; not as a prerogative, but as a trust for the benefit of the whole people.

As these pieces were stamped at Rome in the temple of Juno Moneta and as the Latin race was dominant in Europe, they took the name of money, and the operation became known in the English tongue as mintage.

Gold was the first metal used, as far as is known, by all the various branches of the human race. The earliest savage could find it in the washings of the rivers, as the word Guinea sufficiently indicates, and prized it for its glitter as well as a means of purchase, without being conscious of the qualities which made more advanced people esteem it as one of the precious metals.

There are ethnological museums showing the gradual growth of its use and importance when, and as, a tribe emerged from primitive barbarism. The workmanship sufficiently attests the rudeness of that prehistoric period—"when Pan to Moses lent his pagan horn," but to which tradition has given the name of the "Golden Age." Silver, on the other hand, did not come into use until those tribes had so far advanced in civilization as to have become miners, mechanics and traders. For silver is seldom found near the earth's surface, but must be got from the rocks in which it is imbedded, by skill and tools, must be crushed, smelted and refined.

Its use as money was due to the commercial race of the past, the Phoenicians, the Athenians, the Carthaginians.

Once, however, introduced into the economy of human existence, it was rapidly and widely utilized.

Its very denomination of sterling is derived from Estling merchants, who brought it from Eastern countries.

As far as known, through all the past ages, among all peoples, the two metals held and performed more or less in common the functions of money; and where but one of them was the recognized measure of valuation, it was silver which down to the early part of the present century was preferred. "I am reasonable," said Froend-De-Bout to Isaac of York; "if silver is scant, I will take gold at the rate of a mark of gold to six pounds of silver, rather than roast you alive."

The modern trend, national and international, has been steadily toward gold, and nearly all the more advanced countries have discarded silver except in subsidiary coins, and use gold alone as their standard with which to measure all other valuables.

A patient and long-suffering country still looking in vain to the Senate may say with David: "Lord! make me to know mine end!"—Louisville Post.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Steamship Company's new route for commerce between Europe and America was formally opened on Saturday of last week, when the initial steamer, the Hapshannock, left Newport News for Liverpool with a large cargo—equal to about 250 car loads—including 40,000 bushels of wheat, 370 head of cattle and 1,275 hogsheads of Kentucky tobacco, the largest single shipment of tobacco ever made from a Virginia port.

THE JIM CROW CAR.

The Separate Coach Law Will Go Into Effect October 3rd.

The Darkies of the State do Not Fancy Its Provisions and are Preparing to Fight It.

We publish below the Separate Coach Act, passed by the last Legislature, and which becomes operative October 3rd. The railroads are making preparations to comply with the law by having their coaches divided with partitions. They will be ready by the date the law goes into effect. A fund has been raised among the colored people to test the constitutionality of the law, legal talent has been engaged, and a fight will be made against its enforcement. The act reads:

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky: Section 1. Any railroad company or corporation, person or persons, managing or otherwise operating railroad cars or coaches by steam or otherwise, on any railroad line or track within this State, and all railroad companies, person or persons, doing business in this State, whether upon lines of railroad owned in part or whole, or leased by them; and all railroad companies, person or persons, operating railroad lines that may hereafter be built under existing charter or charters that may hereafter be granted in this State, and all foreign corporations, companies, person or persons organized under charters granted or that may hereafter be granted, by any other State; who may now, or may hereafter be, engaged in running or operating any of the railroads of this State, either in part or whole, either in their own name or that of others, are hereby required to furnish separate coaches or cars for the travel or transportation of the white and colored passengers on their respective lines of railroad. Each compartment of a coach divided by a good and substantial wooden partition with a door there, shall be deemed a separate coach, within the meaning of this act, and each separate coach or compartment shall bear in some conspicuous place appropriate words, in plain letters, indicating the race for which it is set apart.

Sec. 2. That the railroad companies, person or persons, shall make no difference or discrimination in the quality, convenience or accommodation in the cars or coaches or compartments set apart for white and colored passengers.

Sec. 3. That any railroad company or companies that shall fail, refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon indictment and conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than $500 nor more than $1,500 for each offense.

Sec. 4. That all Circuit Courts in which railroads are operated in this State shall have complete jurisdiction over such offenses.

Sec. 5. The conductors or managers on all railroads shall have power, and are hereby required, to assign to each white or colored passenger his or her respective car or coach or compartment; and should any passenger refuse to occupy the car, coach or compartment to which he or she may be assigned by the conductor or manager, said conductor or manager shall have the right to refuse to carry such passenger on his train; and for such refusal and putting off the train neither the manager, conductor nor railroad company shall be liable for damages in any court.

Sec. 6. That any conductor or manager on any railroad, who shall fail or refuse to carry out the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

Sec. 7. The provisions of this act shall not apply to employees of railroads, or persons employed as nurses or officers in charge of prisoners.

Approved May 24, 1892.

Old Stage Driver—I wish I was in Washington. There's going to be a lynching 'bee and I'd like to take a hand. I read in the paper that they were going to kill "Silver Bill," who has been backin' trouble. I know him in Arizona before the war.—Texas Sittings.

"It will do him" protested a member of the family that had long been afflicted with a case of consumption. The protesting member had witnessed the invalid, the frequent visits of the Doctor, and had accompanied the "trips South." Had noticed the "hectic flush," the "nervous irritation," the "constant cough" the "profuse expectoration."

He had also seen the discontinuance of all these—the administration of Dr. Fenn's Golden Relief, followed by the restoration to perfect health, and he knew the Golden Relief was what had done it. He was "honest and fearless enough to 'tell the truth.' Cures also sore throat, bronchitis, cold, dysentery, bruises, burns, cuts and all sore, inflammation in any form or place from a cold to a consumption with inflammation no cure, no inflammation no consumption. One tablespoonful dose cures La Grippe. Never disappointed if satisfaction not given, money refunded. Take a bottle home to-day.

Merchant—Did you deliver my message to Mr. Smith?

Boy—No, sir. He was out and the office locked.

Merchant—Well, why didn't you wait for him, as I told you?

Boy—There was a sign on the door saying "Return at Once," so I came right back.—St. Louis Star Sayings.

A Woman of Sense.

A sensible woman begins early in life to show her prevailing characteristics. As a child she can be reasoned into obedience when she can not be coaxed or driven, and, though it would be idle to attach undue importance to the bachelor's opinions as given above, it is wise to remember that wise impulses may be changed to bad ones by improper training.

The sensible woman does not allow self-gratification to persuade her to do that which is contrary to reason or sound judgment. She never loves a man so dearly, notwithstanding his bad habits, which she despises, that "she can not give him up." Her good sense tells her that love is short-lived unless fed on respect, and also that an affection which is weaker than a bad habit is scarcely worth having.

A sensible woman never does a thing simply because every one else is doing it, but because she has decided that she may safely do it. She cares just enough about the opinion of her neighbors, and none too much. She who does not care what others think of her is lacking either in good sense or morality. She whose first thought is, "What will folks say?" lacks good sense and firmness to do what she believes to be right regardless of consequences. The sensible woman is the medium between these two extremes.

In time of trouble one turns involuntarily to the sensible woman. Others may be favored temporarily when the skies are clear, but under the clouds are useless as a lace when it is a snowstorm. But the sensible woman knows you are human, and, although that may have seemed probable, when your fair weather friend are comparing you with the angels, you are not grateful. She does not gush, or look scandalized, or say "I told you so," or become sentimental, or try to convince you that she has suffered worse; you know at once that she understands, that she is not wanting in appreciation or sympathy, and that she will help you if you let her.

A Pretext.

A few evenings ago a little boy was busily engaged at his lessons. His father, one of the leading citizens of Harlan, had gone to the lodge, and his mother was busy sewing. The little boy looked up and asked: "Mamma, what does the word 'pretext' mean?"

"When your father says he has to go to the lodge two or three times a week, that is a pretext to get away from his family."

The boy did not say anything, but the next day when he read it out to a whole school his definition of "pretext" created a sensation.—Texas Sittings.

Ask a Policeman.

A little negro does the waiting and errand running of a fashionable boarding house on West Fourth street. He is not very well posted about Cincinnati and Cincinnati ways, as his home is in the country. The lady in charge of the house made some purchases at the Woman's Exchange and left them, with instructions that she would send her colored boy for them. Sam received instructions as to the name and location and started. But the noise and hurry of the street upset his limited supply of reasoning faculties, and he was barely able to reach home, leaving his errand undone.

The lady said in surprise: "Why, what was the matter, Sam? Couldn't you find the place?" "No'm," said Sam. "I dun locker, and after a bit I axed a policeman whuh de Ladies' Trade was, and he said he blamed if he knew, and den I cum back. For if a policeman don't know dis way, wain't no way for a nighab boy like me to hunt."—Cincinnati Tribune.

CHICAGO.

A Short Essay Upon the Great City on the Lake.

From the Boston Herald.

Chicago's name was given to it by the Indians for the garlic which grew there. During the Revolutionary war it became an Indian trading point. Fort Dearborn was erected there in 1803, and in spite of the fact the people were massacred in 1812. After that Chicago for a few years was again a wilderness, until 1816, when the white people began to flock back again. Chicago, like New York, was built on account of a canal. With the departure of the Indians Chicago began to increase. Prairie schooners began to arrive. The streets, which were mere cart paths, were rivers of mud in wet weather, but Chicago was going ahead. Mud was then the bane of Chicago as it is today. In 1834 the first public school was established. The church followed next, and then the mail service was established, and Chicago was in receipt of a monthly mail. Then came the newspaper, the Chicago Democrat, which announced when it was first published that the Population was 800, and that goods came from New York in twenty-seven days.

The decade between 1840 and 1850 saw the beginning in a small way of all the great enterprises which have made her great. The next decade between 1850 and 1860 was an era of railroad building. The citizens turned the lake two miles and got fresh water, and later tunneled it two miles farther. Then the low parts of the city were raised from three to sixteen feet, and all the buildings were raised to conform to the new grade. The man who had to do with the raising of the buildings of Chicago was George M. Pullman, who, after raising many of these buildings, turned himself to make easier the long-distance railroad travel.

The story of Chicago during the war was the story of the whole country. The convention which met in the great wigwag was the one which nominated Abraham Lincoln. The grain trade of Chicago is enormous, but the lumber trade is larger; the business of the stock yards is larger than both together, and the manufacturing business is larger than either.

In 1871 Chicago had a population of 334,000, and most of the buildings were of wood. Then the fire burned 127 acres on a Saturday night. It was thought to be the largest fire that the city ever experienced. The next day a vast sea of fire enveloped the whole city over the river from one part to the other, burning over 2,000 acres and destroying 270 lives. In spite of what came from insurance and gifts, Chicago had to bear a loss of $140,000,000. Before the fire had entirely ceased the rebuilding began apace. A splendid new city has been built on the ruins of a shabby old one and the debt has been nearly paid in those twenty years.

It was a bold move for Chicago to undertake the world's fair, and before it had been decided by the Government, Chicago had decided that its fair would be the greatest ever held. The exposition can never be surpassed. Chicago is not yet an ideal city nor completed city. The unbuilt stretches of prairie will be built up in a new and beautiful style of architecture. She is confronted with grave problems in the corruption of her municipal politics.

POULTRY NOTES.

Ducks require dry quarters. Green bones are good for fowls. Feed little or no corn in hot weather. While white is cheap feed it to the poultry.

Guinea chickens are small fowls. The chickens need grit to keep them in health.

There is considerable money in the raising of geese.

Keep the droppings under the roosts well cleaned up.

The cockerels and pullets should be separated now.

It is well to separate the sexes during the moulting season.

In fattening poultry begin by feeding moderately at first.

Bones scorched and powdered are relished by the chickens.

A stimulating diet promotes fat, and fat reduces egg production.

Every Dose Effective

Lime is as essential as air and water to a productive hen.

Now is the time to pick out the fowls which have ceased to lay.

Raw onions chopped up are very healthy food for poultry.

It is only by regular care and feeding that steady growth can be secured.

Exercise and green food are as essential to the health of poultry as they are to human beings.

Milk, wheat, bran and linseed meal, oat green, bone or animal food, should be given during the moulting season.

Fish in moderation is an excellent food for chickens, but if too much be given the eggs and meat of the fowls will develop a fishy taste.

A few days before killing your fowls shut them up and feed them corn and water only. You will find a noticeable improvement in the fowl.

A fowl that is confined to corn and water for a few days before being killed is much better flavored than one which comes fresh from the range.

Poultry need charcoal, and it is suggested that a good way to supply it is to burn an ear of corn, charring it thoroughly before throwing it to the fowls.

HORSE NOTES.

Good water is an essential to animal health as good food.

Too much hay will impair the digestive system of the horse.

Most stock will do better for fresh water six times a day.

If the animal is overheated be very careful about giving water.

The best way to judge the breeding qualities of the stallion is by the coits.

If you breed to a trotting horse choose one that has style as well as action.

If your mare has a sprinkling of draught blood, breed to a draught horse.

If the mare is of trotting stock she should be bred to a trotting or coach horse.

A good colt trained and developed into a good all-round work horse has unusual value.

It is more important that the plough team should be well matched in gait and strength than the carriage team.

Bad hay makes bad health, and it is the worst possible kind of economy to feed such to valuable horses, young or old.

Great good would be accomplished by the adoption of the cart horse parade in this country.

A stylish driver or coacher will always bring a good price, but a small road horse, unless he is speedy is hard to sell.

It is said that the number of geldings this year will be unusually large. This is good news, as the supply has been very small.

A balanced ration for colts includes grain, hay, grass, etc. It rarely pays to depend upon grain; alone or with corn as additional food.

It is reported that the Duke of Westminster has refused an offer of $100,000 for Orme, the best son of the famous Orme, who was bought by W. O. MacDonald, of California, for $150,000.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR STATE SENATOR,
J. H. HOLLOWAY.

OF CLARK.

We are authorized to announce G. Allen McCormick as a candidate for Assessor of Montgomery county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

COUNCILMEN.

"Prior to a Democratic selection it is evident that a newspaper takes its stand as to candidates; but in our selection we desire to express our choice, and what applies to one ward is applicable to all. We are favorable to only such men as will take an active interest in the affairs of the city, men of practical, common sense (some men haven't common sense), men who will work, not for individual interest, but for the interest of the whole. They must know what the resources of the city are, in expenses, its indebtedness, the amount to be reserved for the sinking fund in order to meet the bonded indebtedness, and then have judgment and courage sufficient to apply the balance in a way profitable to every citizen. If we need vitrified streets and can afford them, we are for men who will vote for such a contract. We need water works; we are for men who will push this interest. A local company have been working to this end for several years—have spent their money and have a live franchise for the common benefit of every citizen, and as there is nothing in it to them any more than to any other citizen, this interest must be kept alive. The health of Mt. Sterling must not be neglected. The city has grown to a size that it demands a system of sewerage, and we favor Councilmen who will look after the health of the city. Mt. Sterling can be made the most handsome inland city in Kentucky, and that without increasing the rate of taxation. Pavements constructed on both sides of every macadamized street, bordered with shade trees, and the best clean by the Street Commissioner, would make Mt. Sterling a most beautiful city, and we are opposed to any man for Councilman who is not favorable to this movement. Our candidates must be free from all combines, that they may be untrammelled in the enforcement of every ordinance. We want no back numbers.

Delay is Dangerous.

The prompt action of the President, calling together the representatives of the nation in an extra session of Congress and the repeal of the purchasing act of the Sherman silver bill in the Lower House, was evidence to the people that their wishes expressed last November would be observed and that the Democratic party would be governed by its platform, notwithstanding the cry from the enemy that to disturb vital matters would bring disaster to all industries, and block the channels of trade.

The delay in the Senate, however, is the occasion at this time of distrust. Men pause to consider, and during this time business also is at a standstill. The Democratic party, however, will test its strength, and despite all opposition, will concur with the action of the Lower House. This done the repeal of the Federal Election bill will follow and the tariff burden will claim the attention of Congress, and will be promptly acted on, thereby completely effecting the restoration of confidence.

Governor Brown has refused a strong petition for the removal of A. M. Bowling, now serving a twenty-one year term in the penitentiary for the murder of John Gill in this city, about seven years ago. Gill was acting as deputy marshal when killed. Governor Brown reviews the case at length, and concluded his answer to the petition as follows:

"There is nothing whatever in the case commending it to executive clemency. Such a man should not be turned loose upon any community. Notwithstanding that very strong appeals have been made to me to pardon him. I feel that it would be an inexcusable abuse of the power lodged in my hands by the Constitution to disturb the judgment of the court. I decline to interfere."

Cheered the Court's Decision

Judge Thomas J. Scott, of the Circuit Court, had before him on Monday morning the case of Mrs. Nancy Broadbush, Ex'r's, vs. her surviving husband, H. C. Broadbush, involving several notes involving $10,000 or $12,000, which she had assigned and otherwise given to him. It was a friendly suit by the executor to determine whether the notes properly belonged to the estate or to the defendant. The Court-house was well filled and great interest manifested.

Judge Scott decided in favor of Mr. Broadbush, whereupon the spectators cheered the decision. The Judge looked savage and rapped for order, but probably did not feel disposed to do anybody for contempt of court, as he was greatly complimented by the irregularity.—Richmond Climax.

Commissioner Fowey, of the Franklin Circuit, who, since July, has been investigating the financial differences between the State and the Mason & Ford Co., ex-lessees of the Frankfort prison, filed his report Wednesday. The document declares that instead of being indebted to the State in the sum of $94,000, as claimed in the suits filed by Attorney General Hendrick last spring, the ex-lessees are the State's creditors in the sum of $22,234. Argument on the report will be heard this week in all likelihood, and the chances are that whether or not the report is sustained, the litigation will be carried to the Court of Appeals.

Ex-Speaker Reed was given a dose of his own medicine in the House Wednesday, the report of the Committee on Rules being adopted in spite of its parliamentary protests. The proceedings were unusually lively and interesting, the bill repealing the Federal election laws being placed on the calendar immediately after the adoption of the rules. The clause in the latter which the Republican leadership objected to was that providing that upon the adoption of the order the Speaker shall proceed to call the committee for reports, and until that order is exhausted no motion whatever shall be in order or entertained by the Speaker.

State Treasurer Hale has mailed to each of the State's revenue collecting officials a circular in which he says that heretofore he has been able, in emergencies requiring more money than the ordinary collections offered, to effect arrangements with banks acting as State depositories, and to thus tide over temporary deficits. Now, he states, the money stringency renders this impossible, and in view of the approaching school payments, he urges extraordinary diligence on the part of the collectors "that the State may be saved the humiliation of a suspension of payment, or the necessity of borrowing money."

The first indication of concord upon any question in the Senate at the extra session is an agreement, unanimously adopted, to begin the daily sessions one hour earlier and close at 6 p.m. In announcing the agreement Mr. Voorhes said he believed that when legitimate debate upon the Repeal Bill is exhausted a vote will be near. The closure resolution was discussed, but no action was taken.

Chairman Sayres, of the Congressional Appropriation Committee, says that $300,000 will be required to complete the work the Census Bureau has in hand. Republican chiefs still control the Bureau and the Washington correspondent of the Courier-Journal suggests that Democratic Congressmen refuse to vote an appropriation until Secretary Hoke Smith places Democrats in charge.

President Cleveland appears to have it happy when he heard that his estimate of silver had been endorsed by a vote independent of party associations, for he telegraphed to Chairman Wilson in these strong terms: "Please accept for yourself and your associates in to-day's achievement my hearty congratulations and sincere thanks."

Gov. McCormick, of West Virginia, is catching it from the Democratic press and clubs of the State for joining with the New River coal barons in their plea for protected coal.

In Connecticut they are not satisfied with the home-made women suffragists, but are prodding the regulations which foreign born women may become voters.

The Republicans of Frankfort will place a full ticket in the field against the Democratic nominees for city offices.

$2 For $1.50.

We call special attention to our publishing arrangement with the great southern weekly, the Atlanta Constitution, which enables us to offer both papers for the remarkably low sum of $1.50 a year. The first duty of every good citizen is to patronize his home paper. He wishes to become thoroughly conversant with his county matters, and only through his home paper can he expect to be supplied with the current county news, which is of the closest interest to him.

After he has provided himself with his home paper, the next consideration of those who are not within easy reach of a first-class daily newspaper should be to select a first-class weekly newspaper supplying all of the world, and paying special attention to features which are of particular interest to the household and the farm.

Just such a paper is the Weekly Constitution, published at Atlanta, Ga., and having a circulation of 156,000 copies a week, the largest of any weekly newspaper published in America. It is essentially a farmer's paper and stands at the head of the weekly press of this country. Its agricultural department alone is worth the subscription price of the paper, while its numbers among its contributors show well known names as Bret Harte, Mark Twain, Joel Chandler Harris, Sarge Plunkett, Bill Arp, and a host of others, whose reputations are world wide. Its women and children's departments are prepared with a special view to please the little folks and the women, and its news columns literally cover the face of the earth.

We are enabled to offer both papers at practically the price of one, and we will take great pleasure in forwarding the Constitution any names sent in connection with our clothing offer at the remarkably low price above given.

Any one of our subscribers by adding 50 cents in cash can secure weekly the Constitution.

S. S. Combs, of Wolfe county, having withdrawn from the race for State Senator, gives the field to Hon. John P. Salyer, of West Liberty, and Mr. Hiram Hogg, of Booneville, and the race promises to be lively. We do not know Mr. Hogg, but are convinced he is a good man for the place. As to Col. Salyer, we do know he is eminently equipped to make as good a Senator as any man in Kentucky, and the people should be careful to send their very best men.

Daniel Landsaw, a Republican of Wolfe county, has been elected by the Magistrates, County Judge, until his successor can be elected and qualified. Heretofore Wolfe county has had a most excellent political record, this being the first Republican office holder in the county for 25 years.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which the National House agreed to the Paymaster substitute to the report on the Committee on Accounts, depriving some of the smaller committees of their clerks, was tabled by a vote of 142 to 37 Friday.

The House Thursday adopted a resolution provided by the Committee on Rules, providing for the consideration of the Federal Election Bill to-day, the debate to continue until October 10, when a vote should be taken.

Last year four hundred and fifteen railroad employees were killed, and nine thousand, four hundred and thirty-one injured, while coupling and uncoupling cars.

The Republican party with its bad legislation, pick-pockets and train robbers are causing no little trouble in this country.

MT. STERLING, KY.

T. P. Martin & Co. have received an elegant line of fall millinery and notions, and selling at prices to suit the times.

The Frankfort Evening Call is out in a double headed editorial demanding the resignation of Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge.

The stockholders of the Frankfort National Bank have decided to go into voluntary liquidation. It will require several months to settle up the business.

Mrs. Pratt, who died recently in Concord, Mass., at the age of sixty-two, was the last of the "Little Women" of whom her sister, Louisa Alcott wrote.

The Keelevites will hold a reunion at Crab Orchard some time in October. This will be a good advertisement for the Keeley Institute and will be the means of bringing in much "stint," which they are after.

Hauley Ragan is studying medicine under Dr. B. F. Thompson, one of our leading physicians. Hauley is a bright young man of an excellent moral character, energetic, and will climb high in his chosen profession.

Mr. Mike McCarthy, formerly with the Mt. Sterling Gas Company, is now with the Mt. Sterling Gas and Electric Company, and will answer all calls for plumbing work of all kinds.

At the grand rush for the train at Chicago, Mr. S. S. Fizer had his pocket picked and was loser of $20 and the book. Luckily, he had funds in other pockets and got home without having to walk. Mr. Fizer says pickpockets are pickier than flies in a barnyard.

As a general rule, it is best not to correct constiveness by the use of saline or drastic medicines. When a purgative is needed, the most prompt, effective, and beneficial is Ayer's Pills. Their tendency is to restore, and not weaken, the normal action of the bowels.

One of the schemes of pick-pockets is this: Just before the train pulls out, one of the party enters a coach, calling for tickets and the unsuspecting are generally caught by giving up tickets or money, and are none the wiser until the conductor comes around.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does what no other blood medicine in existence can do. It searches out all the impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly through the proper channels. This is why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is so pre-eminent effective as a remedy for rheumatism.

Mr. James C. Cassidy has returned from Winchester and this will be his home. He has fully recovered his health, and will give his time, talents and energy to the practice of law. He is negotiating for an office and we will by our next issue be able to give the location of his office.

Bruce Terrill, the slayer of Fletcher, at Spruce Gap, Wolf county, on the 16th inst., has been indicted for murder and admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000, which he gave. The murdered man was a brother of Jasper, George and Caleb Fletcher, this county, where he had lived until about a year ago—Jackson Hauster.

The primary election in this county Saturday was an all-round surprise to almost many people. G. T. Center received the nomination for county judge; Jack Holton for county clerk; A. H. Stanger for county attorney; John R. Hobbs for judge; J. M. Ross for treasurer, and Jim Peltrey for coroner. Dr. John Taulbee was nominated for county judge, short term.—Hazel Green Herald.

Richard Apperson has returned from Frankfort where he has been for the past three months in the study of law under ex-Chief Justice W. H. Holt. He came home to say good-bye to his friends and relatives and left for Ann Arbor to complete his legal course. Mr. Apperson is giving his time, talents and energy to a thorough preparation for his chosen profession and we shall watch him with interest believing that he will attain to the highest round of his profession.

The Big Race.

The richest purse ever trotted for, or run for, in Kentucky will be the Stallion Representative State, to be decided at Lexington, Monday, October 2. It will be worth $125,000 cash, and the sporting papers predict that it will be the greatest race of 1893. All the roads will sell tickets at very low rates, and a big crowd is expected.

Our Cabs.

A special from Washington to the Louisville Post of Saturday says: Representative Lisle returned last night and this morning called at the White House with Judge Brooks, of Mt. Sterling.

Mr. Cleveland had gone to his country home and therefore could not be seen. Mr. Cleveland told Senator Lindsey that he regarded the District Attorneyship of the Indian or Oklahoma Territory more important than the Judgeship, and, if possible, would prefer giving Judge Brooks the attorneyship.

Judge Brooks is pretty sure to land in one of the two posts.

For the Murder of Her Stepson.

At Knoxville, Tenn., on the 20th inst. Mrs. Lottie Cummings was placed on trial in the criminal court for her life. She is charged with murdering her ten-year-old stepson, Louis, on June 9th, present year. She is accused of leading the child to death with billets of wood, and after cutting his throat, throwing the mangled body out of a two-story window. Jealousy of attention paid the child by his father in preference to her own children is the alleged cause. She is a woman of forty-five years, and of very repulsive features. The Jury in the case gave the woman twenty years in the penitentiary.

The Winchester Gun Club came up Friday by special invitation to shoot with the Montgomery Gun Club. The Montgomery boys had an idea as the Winchester Club had shot but little this season it would be an easy victory for them; but for some reason (the high wind probably), they did not come out quite so well as it had been supposed they would. They came out second best, Winchester leading with 17 birds. Following is the score:

Rev. McKee, rector of the Episcopal church, at this place, filled his appointment Sunday morning, but was taken sick in the afternoon, so that there was no service in the evening. He left for his home at Winchester yesterday morning still feeling quite well.

MT. STERLING, KY., Sept. 25, '93.

Genlmen—By your permission I will claim a little of your space to say something which, to me, seems to be a very important matter, at this time. I speak of a Mayor for our city. The race is made up and we are to choose between Adam Baum, W. R. Nunnally and King Ford, all clever gentlemen, but the very best one for the city's interest is what we want. Mr. Baum is largely interested in the city, and should be so selfish and want legislation in his interest, whatever would benefit his property would like who benefit that of every other citizen of Mt. Sterling. Any act on his part which would be detrimental to the city would be detrimental to himself, and he is too good a business man to take dollars out of his own pocket. Hence, no matter from what standpoint we look, he is a good man to put at the head of city affairs. For the possibility of the city and its progressive growth Mr. Baum is a leader, and I believe the Democracy would act wisely in presenting him as their candidate. As a poor man we are dependent on the growth of the city and should see to it that enterprising men are leaders.

Snow in England.

The people of the North of England were greatly surprised when they awoke Saturday morning to find snow as steadily falling as though it was the dead of winter. The storm continued through the morning throughout most of the Northern counties. Nottingham, Cumberland, Yorkshire, Lancashire and Westmoreland, but it was most severe in the last named county, where snow covered the ground to a depth of four inches.

The World's Fair and American Railways.

The Queen & Crescent Route widely known as the road running the "Finest Trains in the South," is in the field to carry everybody from the South to the World's Fair at Chicago. No part of the Southern country is left unconnected by this great railway and its connections. The Through Car System is an admirable exposition of the wonderful capabilities of American railroading. From New Orleans Through Sleeping Car runs daily, morning and evening, carrying its passengers via Cincinnati or Louisville, as they may select.

From Shreveport, Vicksburg and Jackson another Through Sleeping Car Line comes to join and become a part of the magnificent Vestibuled Through Trains, which, passing through Birmingham and the famous Wills Valley of Alabama, is joined at Chattanooga by the train from Jacksonville, Fla., Brunswick, and Atlanta, Ga., over the E. T. V. & Ga. railroad, and proceeds north over the beautiful Cincinnati Southern, through the grandest natural scenery and most attractive historical country in the world, to Oakland, where another magnificent Pullman car is received, returning from the Hickman and Louisville System from Charleston, S. C., through Columbia, S. C., the beautiful French Broad country, and Asheville, N. C. and Knoxville, Tenn.

The time to Chicago is made so as to afford the most convenient hours for departures from the principal cities and arrivals in Chicago.

Passengers can purchase tickets good over one line north of the river, and returning via another if they desire a variable route without extra charge. Or they can go via Cincinnati, returning via Louisville, or vice versa.

Round trip tickets on sale at reduced rates. Agents of the Chicago line will on request assist in looking up rooms or accommodation for visitors to the Fair.

Everything that an almost perfect system can devise to disperse the praise and patronage of the traveling public has been provided. Any of the agents of the company named below, will cheerfully give all possible information and assistance. R. H. Garrett, New Orleans, La. I. Hardy, Vicksburg, Miss. J. R. Grogan, Birmingham, Ala. E. T. Charlton, Chattanooga, Tenn. W. D. Cozart, Junction City, Ky., or D. G. Edwards, Cincinnati, Ohio.

To Mend Tin Buckets.

Many persons have tin buckets so worn at the bottom, as to be useless for water. They may be made useful by melting common ceiling wax, with enough lard mixed with it to make it closely adhere. Pour the melted wax in the bucket with the bottom warmed so that the wax will spread easily. Vessels thus treated may be used a year longer for holding cold water.

Senator Wolcott's Wonderful Wardrobe.

Mr. Wolcott is the only man in the senate who claims to be dressy. He has an extraordinary collection of clothing, and he probably spends not more than $10,000 a year on dress. I know of one year when he sent a check for $3,500 in March to a New York firm that makes his clothing, and this represented only what he had ordered since Jan. 1.

In his house at Washington Mr. Wolcott has one room of his wardrobe fitted with shelves like a dry goods shop, devoted entirely to the storage of clothing. Another room adjoining is devoted to shoes, of which Mr. Wolcott has almost a complete number. Here he takes off a suit of clothing, his valet brushes it, folds it and lays it away on a shelf. When he takes off a pair of shoes, a "form" is slipped into each of them before they are put in their place in the shoe room, so that they may not lose their shape.

Mr. Wolcott never wears the same suit two days in succession. He seldom wears a suit more than once a month. He has a new suit made every week. Mr. Wolcott is in strong contrast with the average senator, who has one suit made in the fall and another in the spring, and who gets through the year with one change of clothing—Philadelphia Times.

Foreign and American Pearl Fishers.

The beautiful pink and bronze pearls from Wisconsin are becoming very scarce. The pearl bearing mollusks in Wisconsin streams are practically fished out, as they have been fished out almost all the waters in this country. These pearls have been found in any considerable numbers. European fishers open the shells with an instrument that does not destroy the animal inside, and if one is found it is put back into the water. The American pearl fisher destroys ruthlessly, and in two or three years he has thrown himself out of a job.—San Francisco Argonaut.

How the Siamese Dispose of Their Dead.

Cremation of the dead is general in Siam. "The who die of natural death may be cremated at once. Those who die of cholera, commit suicide or who by accident must first be buried. Victims of capital punishment are thrown to dogs and vultures.—Ph. Adolphus Press.

THE ADVOCATE.

Charles E. Huff, a prominent citizen of Frankfort, died in New York Thursday.

When Bro. Harie hides himself, one may know he is hard at work. At such times he rises before the sun and works all day, with no interruption except briefly for meals and a hon's walk.

Shelbyville, Ky., has a salacious slander case, in which the principal witness, is Dr. Horine, the uncle of Miss Madeline Pollard. The elusive doctor, however, failed to testify as freely as his celebrated niece.

Justice Coffey, of the Supreme Court of Indiana, in an opinion concurred in by all of his associates, has decided that Indiana cities and towns have no right to regulate the price at which natural gas shall be furnished to consumers.

The big shops of the Little Rock & Memphis railroad at Little Rock, which have been shut down for some time, were reopened with the fall force Thursday. The Iron Mountain railroad shops at the same place will resume October 1st.

During the past week there were 319 business failures throughout the United States, as against 188 the same week last year. The liabilities for failure the second week in September were $3,042,129, as compared with $5,319,098 the first week.

The Prosecuting Attorney of Dearborn county, Ind., has filed a complaint for the State praying for the forfeiture of the Ohio & Mississippi railway's charter because that company brought a tough gang to Lawrenceburg to participate in a prize fight.

A southbound train on the Alabama and Great Southern railroad was wrecked, it is supposed by train robbers, near Springfield, thirty miles from Birmingham, Thursday night. The postal and baggage cars were smashed to pieces and five people injured, none seriously, however.

Representative McCrory, at the invitation of members of the House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, appeared before the committee Friday, and advocated the favorable consideration of his bill providing for the appointment of a joint Congressional and Commercial Monetary Commission.

At the annual meeting of the Foreign Christian Missionary Society in Chicago Wednesday, President Charles Louis Loe, of the Kentucky University, Lexington, was elected President; R. S. Mathews, also of Lexington, Ky., a Vice-President, and I. J. Spencer, of Winchester, Ky., Recording Secretary.

At Roanoke, Va., Wednesday night, a mob of men attempted to take Robert Smith, a negro, who had assassinated Mrs. Henry Bishop, wife of a farmer, from the jail and lynch him. The Roanoke militia repulsed the rioters, with the result that ten were killed and about twenty wounded.

As a result of the World's Parliament of Religions, in session at Chicago, the "Brotherhood of Christian Unity" was organized. Twenty-four of the leading members of the Parliament, from parts of the world and representing many religious faiths, were the initial signers to the pledge of membership and allegiance.

Dunn & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "There is no longer only a microscopic sentimental improvement that can not be measured. Some increase is seen both in production and in distribution of products. It is small, as yet, but after the worst financial blizzard for twenty years, it is not to be expected that all roads can be cleared in a day. All conditions save at Washington favor gradual recovery, and business goes on in unquestioning confidence that the general desire of the people will in some way prevail."

Owing to the carelessness of a brakeman another deplorable railroad catastrophe was recorded Friday. 11 people being killed and many seriously injured in a collision on the Wabash road at Kingsbury, Ind. The second section of the Toronto and Montreal express, running at a high rate of speed, crashed into a freight train on a siding, brakeman Herbert Thompson, in a moment of forgetfulness having opened the switch immediately after the passage of the first section. Thompson made his escape. Such carelessness on the part of railroad employees can only be cured by a free use of hemp.

SPEAKER CRISP

Asserts His Powers and Rules to the Line.

We give credit to the Atlanta Constitution for the following timely editorial, which reflects our sentiments on the Federal Election Law:

"Speaker Crisp is to be commended for his firm stand against the filibustering tactics employed by the Republicans and a few of their Democratic allies in the House against the bill repealing the Federal Election Law.

"The Democratic caucus called by the Speaker promptly decided that the House should continue in session, without adjourning, until the bill repealing the Federal Election Law was reported and placed on the calendar, and the Democratic majority was instructed to take up the bill and push it through.

"This will put an end to the skulking and dodging of those temporizing Democrats who have been herding in the cloak-room and lounging in the lobbies. They will have to show their hands, and go on the record one way or the other.

"It is an encouraging sign to see the Democrats settling down to business. If a caucus had been held at the beginning of the session much valuable time would have been saved and much confusion would have been avoided. But it is better late than never, and it is possible now to agree in caucus upon the line of financial and tariff reform which is necessary to redeem the pledges of the Chicago platform. The suggestion of a caucus was for a long time opposed, just as the demand for an extra session was opposed, but in both cases the opposition was forced to yield to the logic of the situation and wheel into line.

"The movement in the House to repeal the Federal Election Law should not be underrated. It will be bitterly fought by the Republicans to the end, but it is almost beyond belief that a single Democrat, especially a Democrat from the South, should be found acting with the enemy. Such conduct is nothing short of open treason to the party.

"At this late day the New York Tribune, the best and most influential of the Republican organs, comes out with a double-leaded editorial intimating that the Republicans will sacrifice their financial policy before they will suffer the Federal Election Law to be repealed. This is simply a waste of ammunition. The burning issue in the last campaign was the Force Bill and the whole system of Federal bayonet election laws. The question stirred the people as they have not been stirred since the reconstruction era. It solidified the Democratic party and brought it on mass to the polls. It thrust discordant factions into the background and the American people's thundering verdict settled the fate of this form of Federal despotism for all time to come.

"If the average Democrat had been asked last year to name the measure that was most likely to first become a law under a Democratic administration, he would have declared, without any hesitation, that a bill repealing the Federal Election Law would have precedence over everything else. There is not the slightest reason for a change in the attitude of the party. The obvious law, while it remains on the books, will be administered in the interests of the Republicans, because the United States Judges who appoint the Federal supervisors of the elections are, with few exceptions, members of that party. With a full knowledge of this fact the Democrat who stands in the way of repeal is practically as much of a Republican as Tom Reed and his associates, and the Southern Democrat who is willing to continue the menace of bayonet rule over the election precincts of his section is unfit to be trusted.

"The House caucus is a sign of promise. It means that the Democratic majority no longer proposes to be controlled by the minority."

HORSE AND TRACK.

Bonner is trying to buy Alex 2:07 1/2. The new 2:30 list contains 1,500 names is still growing.

There were $80,000 in the pool box at Chicago on Alts in the free-for-all trot.

Mr. Salisbury is now ready to accommodate Mr. Nelson, and so far as the former is concerned there need be any ill-till to the game.

It is said that Kentucky Union, 2:13 1/2, has shown a mile in 2:10.

Brignoli Wilkes, 2:14 1/2, has an uncertain temper, and is driven in his races with a kicking-strap.

Stemwinder, the dam of Directum, is a little black mare by Venture. She trotted a trial in 2:22.

Monroe Salisbury will trot Directum against any trotter or field of trotters in existence, bar none.

Arlon trotted the last quarter of his 2:12 1/2 mile at Chicago in 31 1/2 seconds, a 2:37 clip, and did it so easily that he did not appear to be nearly up to his limit.

Monroe Salisbury has sold the brown mare, Vlc H, to Captain Ishmaloff, of St. Petersburg, who is in charge of the Orloff trotters at the World's Fair. The price paid was $2,500, and the mare will be taken to Russia with the Orloff stable now in Chicago. Vlc H is in foal to Directum 2:06 1/2.

If the colts' ankles seem a little tired and weak after driving, bathe them thoroughly with cold water and salt and wrap them in bandages, but do not bandage them tightly.

Harrietta, 2:11 1/2, by Alcyon, was on the turf for the first time last season, and won three out of four races. This year she has won four races in succession and trotted ten heats in better than 2:15.

It is John Green, a native of the Emerald Isle, now living in California who owns Directum (2:06 1/2). Mr. Salisbury since the racing qualities of this wonderful four year old, also a several others in the Salisbury stable of campaigners, including Little Albert (2:10).

Coast Boy's six heat race at Indianapolis recently, and Cosman's four at Chicago, both winning over good fields, stamp them as great horses, and all the more so as they are full brothers, by Bourbon Wilkes. Coastman, 2:10 1/2, and Coast Boy, 2:14 1/2, have made their dam Albatross, one of the greatest of race-horse producers. It is said that she has three other colts that can go into the list at the trot.

Faster two-year-old trotters than Director's Flower have been seen on the turf, but none have exceeded that good filly as a fast and consistent race trotter. She has won nine valuable stakes or purses since the opening of the season and her winnings amount close to or quite $10,000. She has undoubtedly one more heats in 2:30 or better than any other two-year-old, and her record 2:20 equals the best mile made by a trotter of her age this year. She is another proof of the greatness of her sire, Director, 2:17.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2,628 hhds, with receipts for the same period of 2,627 hhds. Sales on our market since January 1, amount to 101,601 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1892 on our market amount to 103,650 hhds.

The market for Burley tobacco for the past week has been steady and strong and prices closed higher for all grades. The improvement in prices resulted in greatly increased sales for a few days, with the effect of creating an easier tone for prices toward the close of the week. The recent rains have extended over the greater part of the State and will no doubt add materially to the yield of the late set tobacco, if a few weeks of growing weather can be had ahead of a frost. The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco (1892 crop):

Trash. (Dark damaged tobacco) $3.50 to $4.00.
Common colory trash, $4.25 to $5.00.
Medium to good colory trash, $5 to $7.
Common lugs, not colory, $4.00 to $5.
Common colory lugs, $5 to $7.50.
Medium to good colory lugs, $7.50 to $8.50.
Common to medium leaf $8.00 to $9.
Medium to good leaf, $9 to $12.
Good to fine leaf, $12 to $16.
Select wrappery styles, $16 to $26.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 23, 1893.

Offerings of tobacco during this week have been quite large, and prices are hardly as high as they were at the end of last week; yet the difference is not great, and by offering tobacco in a limited way from now on, as it will be wanted by Manufacturers, we hope to see present prices kept up.

Receipts this week have been much larger than in any week for several months, and there is quite a good deal of old tobacco in the country yet, which will make the supply quite equal to the demand, when it is all in. The rains of last week were general over the Southern and Western parts of the State; also reaching Eastward as far as Woodford and Bourbon counties and in parts of the Mayaville district. In all this territory, the late tobacco will be greatly benefited, if farmers will only let it stand until it gets ripe.

The weather in the past few days has been of the most favorable kind for its development, and maturity and we think farmers would be justified in letting their tobacco remain on the hill until the 12th or 15th of October if it does not ripen earlier.

In doing this, there will be two great advantages gained—one is a large increase in quantity and then if it can get ripe, the quality will be good.

We will say again to our friends holding old tobacco, that we hope they will get it ready and send it forward as soon as possible.

Very Truly,

MONEY MATTERS.

ARE always a topic that interests. Its a topic A that puts all good people to thinking, and generally takes lots of hustle to keep on top with them. Money is hard to get and harder to save, but there are ways and ways to do a thing. One piece of folly is to pay rent forever. There is a better way to live and have a home. Go to Baird & Winn and borrow the money on easy terms and easy payments. Buy the house and let them insure it against fire and tornado, and then have them insure your life, so that grim death's coming won't leave your wife and children penniless.
